Did you know that buyers are picky?!?

Even if you are not in the market to sell your home right now, it is always a great idea to start "preparing your home" to sell.

Buyers want to "feel good" when they enter a home. They are generally looking for a move-in ready home that does not require a lot of work. One of the best ways to make your home desirable to buyers AND to improve not only the salability but also the value is to keep it in great shape!

As a homeowner myself, I know this can get pricey. That is why I will be passing along exclusive savings to my favorite people. Wait for more to come in the following months!
